The 1952 Mount

*Annual Publication of the Associated Students of
Mount Saint Mary's College
Los Angeles 49, California*

Dedication

To Our Families—in Heaven and on Earth... To Jesus,

the God-man, Whom we adore and love, Who has taught us that greatness is found in humility and strength in weakness, Who died so that we might live His life forever.

To Mary,

Queen and Mother, from whom we have learned the wonder of our womanhood, its gentleness and strength, its dignity and responsibilities, its capacity to inspire, to suffer, and to console.

To Joseph,

Guardian of the Holy Family, whose self-effacing love was as deep as life itself, hidden from the eyes of all but those whose love could read his heart.

To our mothers,

from whom we first came to know the meaning of love, who taught our baby lips to pray, who have picked us up when we have fallen, held us to their hearts when we were afraid, who have shared our laughter and our tears.

To our fathers,

whose love for us has been so generous and undemanding, who have taught us the joy there is in giving, and whose elaborate gruffness has never fooled us, for with eyes of love we have read their hearts.

The Gualano family is typical of many Mount families. Judge Gualano congratulates his daughter, Belette, while her mother and sister look on proudly. Jeanette is a junior at the Mount.

His Excellency the Most Reverend Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntyre presents a scholarship for graduate work in social welfare to Beverly Halpin, 1952 social welfare major.

Chaplain's Message

Dear Graduates:

Pay no attention to those who predict that you will look back years from now and say that these were the happiest years of your lives. If it should ever happen so, it will be only because you have failed in the later years—which may God forbid.

Could you conceive of a full-blown rose wishing that it were again a bud on the tree? Life is movement, growth and development towards maturity, or it is not life at all. Its later stages should be more full, more beautiful and therefore, more desirable than its earlier ones. No backward glances, then. Press onward to the fore—the best is yet to be.

Your maturity lies hidden with Christ in God, and for you the path thereto is that of the Catholic student. Two catastrophes could overtake you—to cease to be a student, and to cease to be a Catholic. The second is the greater, but the first is not small. To fall from the present fervor of your faith would mean never more to dwell in the household of Christ and His mother and the goodly company of the saints. To cease to be a student would be to surrender what has now become your rightful inheritance—the vision of God's justice, mercy, wisdom, love, unfolding itself across the pages of literature and history, in the pursuit of the arts, in the knowledge of the sciences.

God preserve you from the one and the other. In His loving kindness may He make each succeeding year a happier and more blessed one.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE
12001 CHALON ROAD
LOS ANGELES 49, CALIFORNIA

Dear Graduates:

Your annual helps you to relive a day at Mount St. Mary's. The theme makes concrete some of the thoughts that are yours now that the end of your college time has come--memories of prayer and work and joy, hopes concerning a future for which your college has tried to prepare you. It is truly your college because you have made the Mount your own by entering generously and happily into all its concerns: spiritual, intellectual, and social.

Mount St. Mary's has in turn tried to enrich you in your spiritual, intellectual, and social life. May you carry into the world a spiritual serenity undisturbed even though you must at times face sorrow, a serenity untroubled because the roots of your faith and hope and love have struck deep. May yours be an apostolic faith, made powerful to influence others because you are able to wield skillfully your tools of intellect. May your hope which rests securely on your trust in God diffuse peace around you. May your love for God and for the members of Christ's Mystical Body make every social contact sanctifying for you and others.

Even though you will no longer be college students, yet the Mount remains your college, and we hope you will often come back--to alumnae gatherings, and on more personal visits. You will always be welcome.

Above all, may the end of your college days not be the end of your development, but may you rule ever more fully over the kingdoms of your mind and will in which your college has taught you to build beauty and wisdom and sanctity.

Sincerely yours in our Lord,

Mount Saint Mary's College

...the student

Marie Astier, B. S.

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Los Angeles, California

Marie concentrated on her study of nursing, in spite of that diamond on her third finger. Naturally interested in the Red Cross, she also joined the Sodality, Pi Delta Phi, and the WRA. Her daydreams and nightmares concern skiing, dangerous driving, and editing the Angel's Herald.

Marie

Marianna Bauer, B. A.

Major — Economics
Minor — Business Administration
Burbank, California

Marianna was vice-prefect of Our Lady's Sodality, Mariology Commission chairman of the NFCCS, and co-chairman of Mary's Hour. Her favorite conversational topics were her European trip and Dick. Laughter invariably punctuated her tales of times on the road as a practical mechanic.

Marianna

Bette Lou Beattie, B. A.

Group Major — History, English,
Education
Los Angeles, California

This aspiring teacher spent off-campus hours working at St. Paul's Church Library. Beebe's extra-curricular activities included membership in the Sodality, Tri Rho, Parnassians, and taking charge of the senior cake sales. She plans to return to get her elementary credential.

Beebe

Rita

Rita Blecksmith, B. S.

Major — Bacteriology
Minor — Chemistry
Los Angeles, California

Rita worked on Sodality and Gamma functions, and directed Kappa Theta Mu. She spent mornings at Veterans' Hospital and free afternoons carefully polishing Jack's car and baking cookies. She spent time between letters planning her summer wedding.

Grace

Grace Bohanon, B. A.

Major — Home Economics
Minor — Social Sciences
Culver City, California

As a tennis enthusiast, Grace played in the Ojai Tournament and taught the freshmen to lob last year. She loves home economics, but hates 4:30 classes; yet, her beloved new Buick seldom left the hill early, as Grace supported the Sodality, WRA, Red Cross, and the Home Economics club.

Maureen

Maureen Boylan, B. S.

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Los Angeles, California

Student body president at Children's Hospital, sodality officer at Queen of Angels Hospital and supervisor of all sports everywhere, Maureen also crowded in Red Cross, SWES, and science club activities. But with all of this, her favorite topic of conversation remained—Casa Contenta.

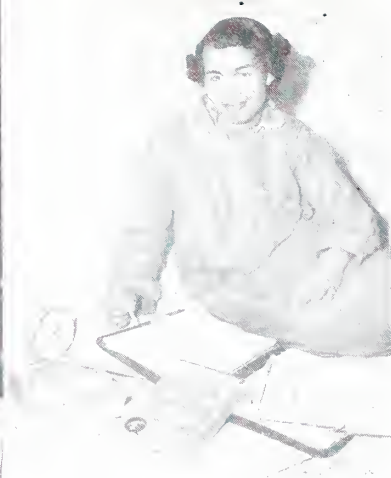

Peggy

Ruby Mae

Vivian

Margaret Bradish, B. A.

Major — Chemistry
Minor — Mathematics
Glendale, California

Peggy was elected to Who's Who for two consecutive years. Most of her extra-curricular interests centered around NSA as regional president, secretary, and treasurer. Her ideas on students' rights and academic freedom did not go unheard at any of the congresses she attended in the East. Her one love—Nescafe.

Ruby Bunyard, B. S.

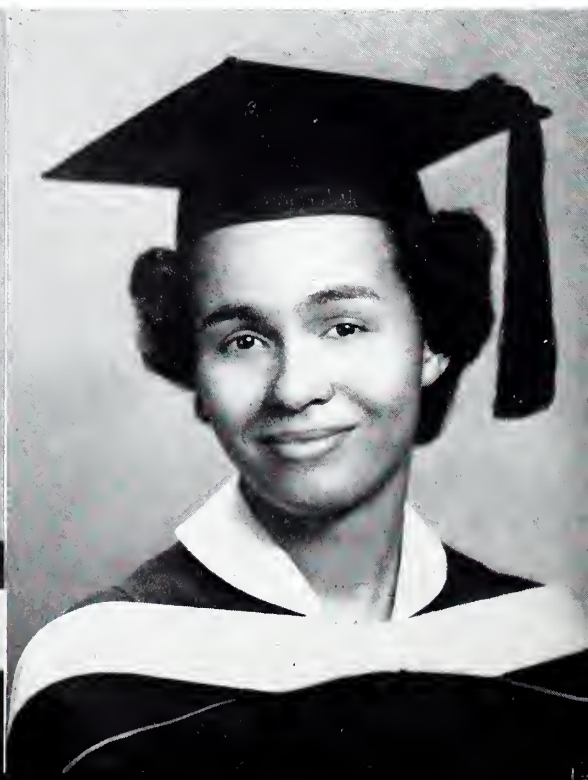

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Los Hills, California

A colorful Californian from Lost Hills, Ruby Mae silenced teasing classmates through a featured role in the Mount swim show, election to the Student Council at Children's Hospital, and valuable aid to the Red Cross, WRA and sodality. Her favorite thoughts concern two coveted titles—Registered Nurse and World Traveler.

Vivian Burgess, B. S.

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Los Angeles, California

Besides training at Brentwood Hospital, Vivian worked in SWES, Red Cross, sodality and YCS activities with the Mount's warmest smile. Election to class office and sewing on the side compensated for the hated "early to rise."

Patricia Catalyne, B. A.

Major — Home Economics
Minor — Philosophy
Glendale, California

Patti held both the offices of regional treasurer and senior delegate in the NFCCS. She was elected class secretary in her senior year. With a knack for parties and pizza—no wonder she volunteered to be chef at the senior socials.

Dolores Cobb, B. A.

Major — Education, Home Economics
Minor — Social Science
Redondo Beach, California

Besides student teaching and leading the caravan for out-of-town Loyola games, Dawnie was boarder president, representative at large, and a member of the annual staff. Her mode of transportation included everything from jeeps to deluxe model Fords. She swears her burnished gold hair is natural—and it is!

Patti

Dawnie

Nita

Juanita Cusack, B. S.

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Muir, Michigan

As Red Cross chairman, Nita urged the Mount on to national recognition for blood donations. She has been the resident nurse for the past two years, and is known for her tall, erect posture and warm, "Hello."

Margaret Czulegar, B. A.

Major — Home Economics
Minor — Philosophy
Redondo Beach, California

Not only was Maggie an officer in the WRA, she also played varsity tennis and performed in the swim show. During the past year, she was treasurer of the senior class and president of the Home Economics club. Perhaps she is best remembered as assisting Mr. Fredericks, the annual photographer.

Maggie

Ella Dell, B. A.

Group Major — Social Sciences
Minor — English
San Luis Obispo, California

Coming to the Mount as a senior, Ella needed her quiet sense of humor to drive her collection of tin and bolts up the hill with pride. In line with her ambitions in the field of social welfare are her warm response and sympathy toward anyone with a problem. Her greatest enthusiasm is for children and interesting people.

Ella

Mary English, B. A.

Major — English
Minor — Social Science
Los Angeles, California

Mary's literary talents were put to use as a View contributor and publicity chairman of Tri Rho. She was also a member of the Eusebians, Parnassians, and the Sodality. Her wry sense of humor and interest in people make her good company.

Mary

Marie Fontana, B. S.

Major — Bacteriology
Minor — Cancer Research
Fresno, California

Marie

A science major, Marie even prowled through the labs at night to check the timing on an experiment. She has been a silent, steady worker behind many big campus projects. Conversation is her pet pastime, and she is an expert in Italian cuisine.

Marjorie Gegg, B. A.

Group Major — History, English,
Education
Elementary Credential
Prescott, Arizona

Margie

Petite, red-headed Margie served the Mount two-fold as vice president of the Student Body and president of the Kappas. She received the Corcoran Award and was elected to Who's Who. A repertoire of cowboy songs, glowing descriptions of those "exquisite Arizona sunsets," and Ray's engagement ring showed that Margie's heart is Prescott bound.

Theresa Giovannelli, B. A.

Major — Spanish
Minor — Business Administration
San Fernando, California

Tree

With an ambition to be a bi-lingual secretary, Tree immediately joined the International Language club upon her arrival here in her junior year. And it was not long before she held the office of vice-president. She will always be remembered for her giggle, castanets, Spanish lamp, collection of empty Kleenex boxes, and "Where's Bebette?"

Bernadette Gouveia, B. A.

Major — Spanish
Minor — French
Honolulu, Hawaii

Bernie's main interest was the International Language club, first as president, then as treasurer. She also was departmental editor of The View. Outstanding events of her senior year were weekend trips to Santa Barbara and becoming an honorary member of Gammas.

Bebette Gualano, B. A.

Major — Economics
Minor — Business Administration
Monterey Park, California

During her senior year, Bebette was an active member of SWES, the International Language club, sodality, and The Mount staff. She is an accomplished debater about politics and plans to enter law school after graduation. Her constant exclamation, "It isn't legal!"

Beverly Halpin, B. A.

Major — Social Welfare
Minor — Economics
Los Angeles, California

After her decision to attend graduate school, Bev's bookcase filled with catalogs of colleges and universities. When not busy studying them, she caught up on the reports and letters she received as president of the Los Angeles region of the NFCCS. Her vivaciousness and energy took her to the East for two successive years as delegate to the Federation. Those emergency phone calls she received during study?—Dr. Jerry Miller.

Bernie

Bebette

Bev

Barbara Hartman, B. S.

Major — Bacteriology
Minor — Chemistry
Ontario, California

With mornings at Sawtelle Hospital, afternoons in bacteriology lab, and weekends at Big Bear, Barb survived by swimming, bowling, and taking an active part in Kappa Theta Mu. This part-time boarder is fond of cherry pie, mail from Florida, and her purple monster with the blue fenders.

Barb

Deenie

Mary

Deen Ibbetson, B. A.

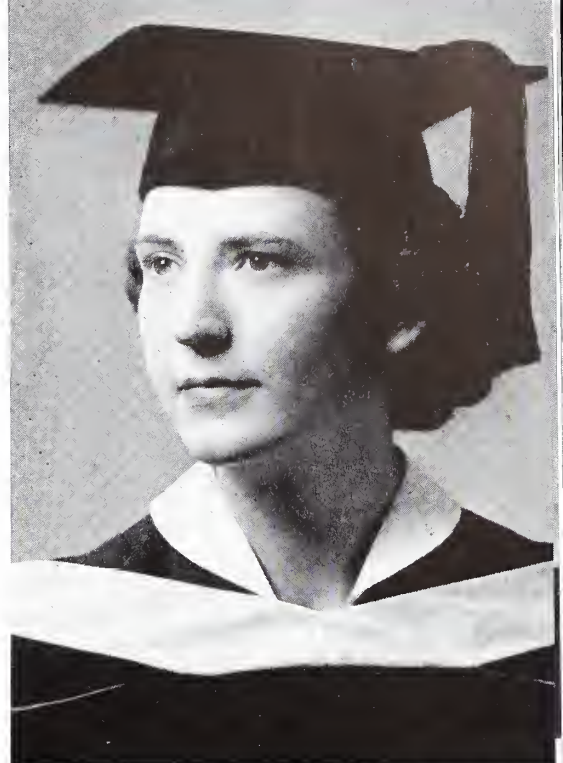

Group Major — English, Drama, Music,
Education
Elementary Credential
Los Angeles, California

"... and her hair hung down in ringlets"—long and black. Add copper jewelry and long fingernails and you have her trademarks. Deenie's theatrical background includes summer stock in Plymouth, Massachusetts, and a leading role in the musical Everybody Goes to College. Riding on the Mount's Loyola Homecoming float and trips to San Francisco are high on her memory list.

Mary Ishida, B. S.

Major — Nursing
Minor — Social Science
Los Angeles, California

Secretary of the student council and mainstay of the Red Cross Club at Barlow Sanatorium, Mary mastered a nursing course and had time, too, for swimming, bowling and knitting for Henry. Besides the R. N. to follow her name, she dreams of three important letters, destined to precede it.

Jacqueline Kildare, B. A.

Major — Home Economics
Minor — Philosophy
Los Angeles, California

Jackie can boast that she was the first to sport the new poodle cut at the Mount. Though she admits being an extreme procrastinator, she still took part in many campus organizations including the Home Economics club, for which she was a reporter, and The Mount staff. Her three favorite R's are reading, red, and Ray.

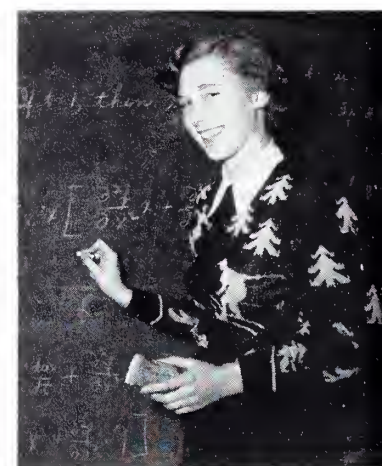

Jackie

Mary Elizabeth Krack, B. S.

Major — Mathematics
Minor — Chemistry
Los Angeles, California

The Language club, NSA, and Tau sorority rounded out Liz's schedule. Her sharp humor is tempered by a mathematical mind, and her scientific endeavors in the laboratory have won her membership in the Honorary Chemical Society.

Liz

Emily Kuglen, B. A.

Group Major — History, Speech and English,
Education
Los Angeles, California

Painting, poetry, and membership in the Sodality, Tri Rho, and drama club filled Emily's days. Her professional dramatic experience included a year's tour with Peter Pan, and at the Mount she played the part of the mother in Everyman. She taught for a year in Virginia and plans to continue as a teacher after graduation.

Emily

Cynthia Luke, B. A.

Major — History
Minor — Music
Honolulu, Hawaii

Luella Lum, B. S.

Major — Zoology
Minor — Mathematics
Honolulu, Hawaii

Rita Lefevre, B. A.

Group Major — History, Speech and English,
Education
Tarzana, California

She may impress you as the quiet type, but in her offices of vice president of both the senior class and Eusebians, and circulation manager of The Mount, Cynn timer displayed her abilities. Her one weakness is canned foods—found in every available inch of space in her room. Embarrassing moments came when she found her fifth grade pupils at Brentwood taller than she.

Because of her energy and versatility, Lala was present among the International Language club, staffs of both The View and The Mount, and Tri Rho as president. Even though this berimmed, unconventional student is known to accomplish the impossible, she does the little tasks as well, like taking blood from every able-bodied student on the campus.

Having a choice of three cars every morning, Rita always kept her riders wondering, "which one will it be today?" She is calm and easy-going, and as a student teacher was renowned as "Queen of the Lesson Plan." Her favorite musical instrument—the stringed French horn.

Rita

Marion Meyer, B. A.

Group Major — History, English,
Education
Elementary Credential
Santa Barbara, California

Impy held the office of president of the junior and senior class. She came to the Mount as a freshman and was active throughout her four years. Her ambition is to teach until "Ginger" comes back from Hong Kong.

Impy

Mick

Carol

Eileen Micklish, B. A.

Major — Art
Minor — Home Economics
San Diego, California

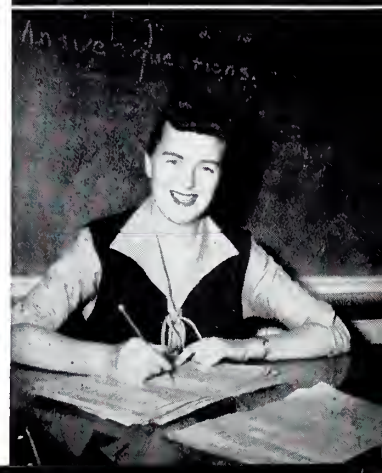

Posters, designs, bulletin boards, and decorations—Mick has done them all as student body publicity chairman, Sodality publicity chairman, and art editor of The Mount. A cherished memory is her whirl as a Loyola Homecoming princess, but Pat's homecoming promises to eclipse it.

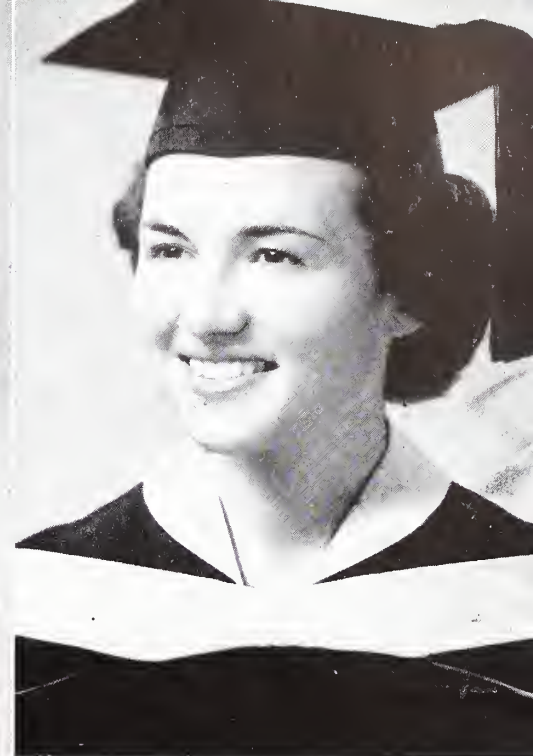

Carol Moore, B. A.

Group Major — History, English,
Education
Los Angeles, California

Carol's personality, wit, and varied ideas made her a good leader. As Sodality prefect, she inspired even the indifferent to action. Carol has been active in Tri Rho, Eusebians, Parnassians, NFCCS, and other organizations. Even practice teaching failed to dent her cheerful disposition and patience.

Camilla Munton, B. S.

Major — Bacteriology
Minor — Chemistry
Inglewood, California

Sodality, Kappa Theta Mu, and Gamma sorority were included among Camilla's extra-curricular activities. Mornings at Veterans' Hospital found her finishing her internship in her senior year. A ready smile and happy disposition characterized her inevitable, "Did you get a letter, Rita?"

Joan Murphy, B. A.

Group Major — History, English,
Education
Elementary Credential
Klamath Falls, Oregon

Although a student teacher, Joan still made time to tackle both The View and The Mount as editor, and to keep pace with the activities of the Gammas and Tri Rho. Known for her dry, Irish wit and dependability, she loves all water sports—skiing, swimming, and boating.

Elaine Moore, B. A.

Major — Music
Minor — Home Economics
Alhambra, California

On weekends when Elaine wasn't busy car-hopping, she taught singing at St. Bernard's. Her musical accomplishments include her senior piano recital, choral group, and the chorus of Everybody Goes to College. She modeled her own smartly fashioned outfits in the Home Economics fashion tea.

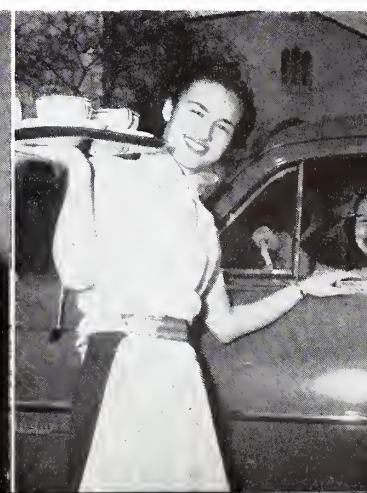

Camilla

Joan

Elaine

Lea O'Donnell, B. A.

Major — Economics
Minor — Business Administration
Los Angeles, California

Need an efficiency expert? Lea's record as president of SWES and the Kappas and associate editor of The Mount, prove her qualifications. Foreign foods, good music, and all shades of brown are her loves along with the diamond she exchanged for Mickey's football.

Dorothy O'Hara, B. A.

Major — Music
Minor — French
Lindsay, California

Dottie was busy in her senior year as prexy of both the Music club and the national French honor society. She was the "singiest" personality on the campus, and is ecstatic over Leonard Pennario's playing. She claims that Lindsay olives and oranges are incomparable—but prefers gooey desserts and Italian food.

Barbara Pearman, B. A.

Major — English
Minor — Philosophy
Blythe, California

Not only was Bobby famed for her collection of five navy blue skirts, but also for her proficiency as Student Body president. Her creditable qualities also shone in NFCCS, NSA, and Tri Rho. This desert girl from Blythe is renowned for her generosity, hearty laugh, and "This summer I'm going to Grailville."

Lea

Dottie

Bobbie

Joan

Peggy

Helen

Joan Shaw, B. A.

Major — Economics
Minor — Business Administration
Los Angeles, California

With assignments done weeks in advance, Joan had time for NFCCS, SWES, and Kappas. She filled the offices of treasurer of the junior class and copy editor of The Mount. Short, pithy statements, class songs scribbled during lectures, and deep bronze tans were typical of Joan. Her pet literary project—writing volumes to her fiance in Korea.

Margaret Scott, B. A.

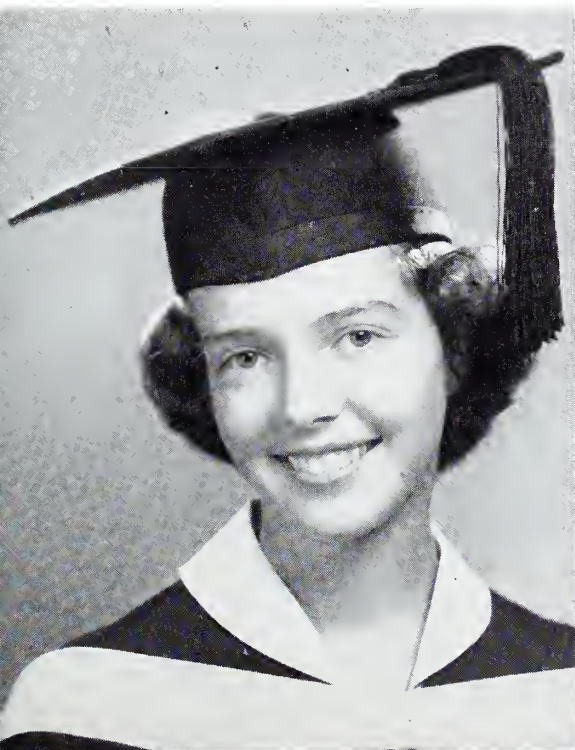

Major — History
Minor — English
Elementary Credential
Los Angeles, California

As skilled with a gavel as she is on skis, Peggy headed both the Eusebians and the Taus in her senior year. All her poster-making practice on campus will be used when she becomes an elementary teacher. Meantime, she owned the Mount's cutest grin and most indispensable Ford.

Helen Peck, B. A.

Major — Bacteriology
Minor — Philosophy
Panama, Republic of Panama

Adventure, charm, sophistication, glamour—that's Helen. She has traveled from Paris to Panama, and is interested in India. Helen has been active in the International Language club, and was vice president of the Interamerican Union. She is remembered for finishing college in three and a half years, and for the expression, "He is so fascinating."

Stuffy

Phyllis

Toni

Joanna Stefanos, B. A.

Major — Economics
Minor — Business Administration
Pasadena, California

Although a transfer student from the East in her junior year, Jenny soon became an active member of SWES, The Mount staff, and president of the International Language club. A girl of many talents—voice, piano, comedy—what would parties be without her! Stuffy's characteristic saying, "I like it."

Antoinette Tortorici, B. A.

Major — Social Welfare
Minor — Spanish
Los Angeles, California

Chairman of the Community Chest drive for the Mount, plus offices in Sodality and SWES kept Toni busy. Still, she had time to listen to her friend, Gordon MacRae, on the Railroad Hour. She loves dancing, social work, and driving her yellow convertible with the top down.

Phyllis Taylor, B. A.

Major — Home Economics
Minor — Art
Kilkenny, Ireland

With a brogue straight from Ireland, red hair, and an adventurous spirit, Phyllis brightened Tri Rho and Home Economics club meetings. Her other distinctions? Skill in cooking, sewing, and skating. In spite of all her phone calls, she claims she hates men.

The Juniors ...

The juniors changed the routine of school this year by introducing Army red tape and military regulations during Green Week; the upper classmen, as officers, had a wonderful time.

When the date for the junior dance arrived, the Mount ballroom bloomed with pink flowers and ivy chains, and La Verne Boyer's Orchestra with E'lane McCaffrey made the dance a perfect Symphony 'N Silhouette. The juniors depicted trials of a teen-ager in their original skit for Father-Daughter Night; they also put their talents to use on the refreshment committee making and serving the homey tidbits.

The climax of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom, held in the Rendezvous Room at the Biltmore Hotel, was where the Seniors were given a royal farewell.

After receiving the last Inter Nos of the year, the juniors rested and planned for graduation and the ivy chain. Final farewells reflected the happiness with which they awaited the new, hard-earned title—seniors.

Portia Spencler, vice president; Pat Bollig, secretary; and Mary Alice Zalesney, treasurer (extreme right) listen to Rosemary Johnson, president, as she tells them their respective responsibilities as class officers.

After class Carol Pierce, Marilyn Munton, Margaret Tripp, Doris Ouellet, Ann Scott, Eileen Kline, and Gloria Will catch up on their plans for the coming weekend.

The students' lounge is a popular spot for seeing friends. Minerva Fiorentino, Callie Orfanos, Iowana Phillips, Frances Benke, Mary Virginia Doyle, Ana Maria Cota, Mary Crettol, and Monica Gosnell spend a free period planning the Big-Little Sister party.

Those who heard Mrs. Daniel Lucey enjoyed her talk on Catholic home life. Front: Sydel Stokes, Eleanor Roffi, Pat Harmon, Nancy Newell, Elaine McCaffrey; back: Kay Knauf, Jane Lacy, Mary Weidinger, Pegi Parkinson, Doris Higgins, Jackie Hermann, and Lavelle Rotsler recall some of her stories of the goats and chickens.

Will the meeting please come to order? Lillian Pereyra, Beverly Czar, Mary Ann Greer, Sheila Sullivan, Mary Ann Kraus, Velma Salmen, and Helen Pawling settle down to a committee meeting in the Newman Seminar.

Between classes finds (front) Dorothy Roberts, Barbara Breen; (back) Mary Pat Donabue, Betty Troncy, Charlotte Robe, Mary Evelyn Meichelbock, and Pat Pinnneo doing last-minute cramming for a psychology test.

Looking at the last poster to advertise their junior dance, SYMPHONY 'N SILHOUETTE: (front) Eleanor Leavell, Martha Moltena, Gretl Dietzel, Mary Alice Zalesny; (back) Dorothy Smith, Gloria Day, Pat Pierce, Betty Dunnigan, Betty Cain, and Mary Weidinger discuss the most appropriate place to display it.

Lilias Burden, Diane D'Alfonso, Jean Walsh, Becky Bohanon, Camille Lutfy, Gen Castellanos, and Gabriela Marciacq begin the traditional ivy chain for graduation, while (back) Charlotte Siegel, Frances Charland, and Nancy Herbuveaux give them some pointers on how to make it look natural.

Standing: Loretta Fanning, Marcella Hunkele, Bobby Scherrer, Terry Martin. Seated: Nancy Deatherage, Claire FitzGerald, and Pat Beckom.

The Sophomores ...

The sophomores reviewed their first impressions of college life for the freshmen in a disillusioning skit entitled "The First Seven Days"; however, freshmen hopes were restored at a sophomore-sponsored stag dance—the first of the year!

Imagination and ingenuity were evident in the sophomore victory at the Halloween party costume competition. The Mardi Gras Masked Ball highlighted the campus pre-Lenten activities.

Through their "Penny Thursdays," a first communicant was outfitted by the sophomores. April brought out their "calling all books" slogan for the book collecting drive.

The Mount revolved for days as a result of the Sophomore Spree. Finis was written to their year in the last splurges of the intellectual effort—The National Sophomore Achievement Test.

While Joyce Markel plays the piano, Carolyn Frisbie, Anne Park, Pat Murphy, Peg McDonald, Eileen Hainley, Joella Allen, and Claudette Drennan rehearse their singing commercial to advertise the MARDI GRAS.

During lunch hour, Jean Call, Celeste Gourdeau, Barbara Bashe, Pat Jacobs, Milania Austin, Josephine Davis, Mary Holland, and Maureen Fox wait in the patio for the cafe to open.

Bridge anyone? Mary Frances Ross, Betty Hearne, Pat Quinn, and Marion Reaume get in that last hand before the bell rings.

Upper: Beatrice Leong, Pat Ching, Ella Jo Bunyard, Miliza Foelsch, Gloria Francis, and Charmaine Machida review their survey assignment in the north end of the library.

Lower: Between classes, the lower floor buzzes with activity. Mary Morris, Bella Jacobs, Carmen Munoz, Rosadel Robison, Maria Moretti, Peggy Holtsnider, and Maria Munoz get out books and look over assignments for the next class.

Class officers Pat Perram, secretary; Joan Wetzel, treasurer; Anne Frances Russell, president; Elise Kerckhoff, vice president; and Bobby Walsb, social chairman; co-ordinate the activities scheduled on their calendars.

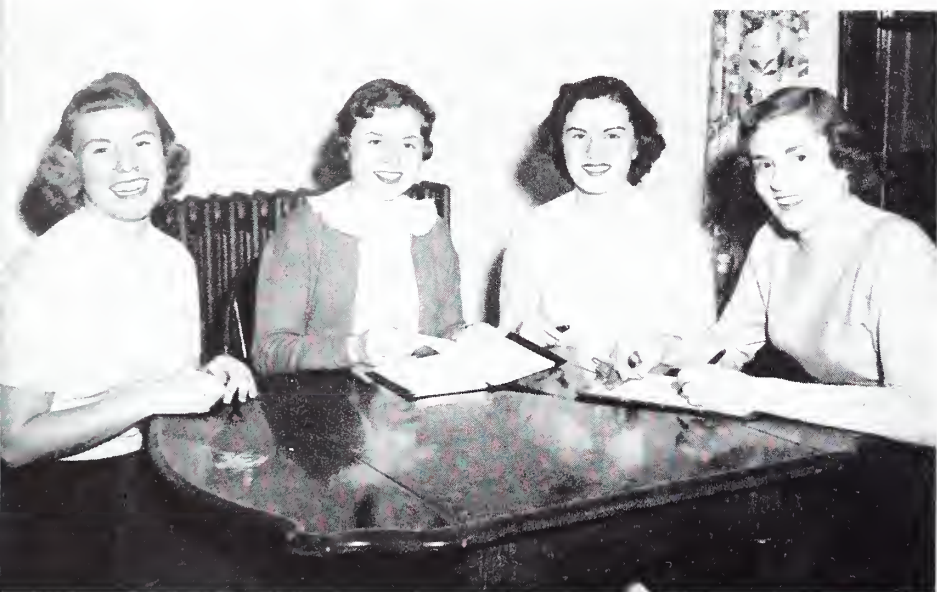

Noontime is fun time! Front: Joanne Vosika, Sandra Speed; back: Shirley Burke, Kathleen Higgins, and Schevaun Robinson get ready to sing a few bars of FIVE FEET TWO, while (extreme right) Marilyn Rudy tunes her uke.

A suite is a good place to gather a crowd. Justine Weiber, Joanne Schott, Jeannette Slattery, Margaret Wick, Anna Macchio, Sylvia Parsons, Elisa Luna, and Jeannette Gualano get together in Elisa's and Anna's room for a chat before dinner.

The Freshmen ...

Class officers Georgia Maloney, vice president; Pat Olson, president; Rosemary Heffron, social chairman; and Jude Longshore, secretary; discuss final plans for the roster. This year, they discarded the old-fashioned mimeograph and introduced a convenient printed booklet.

While the chorus line (standing) Mary Ellen Breen, Kay Kemp, Roberta Boken, Barbara Williams, Lu Mattson, and Marilyn Condie practices timing, Rosalie Quintana, Joan Heuer, Thelma Jean Garcia, Marie D'Anna, and Lucie Barron rest their weary bones after long hours of practicing for FRESHMAN FOLLIES.

In order to meet the deadline on time, (seated) Beverly Calhoun, Alicia Wick, Sandra Miller, Beverly Macchio, Julianne Murphy, Diane Greaney, Carmen Huajardo; (standing) Anne Westerman, Loraine Gibbons, and Sandra Dilley worked long hours in THE VIEW office. Their edition of THE VIEW was one of the year's best.

A beach party at Playa Del Rey started the Big-Little Sister program off with the proverbial bang. A few days later, Freshmen Buck Privates could be seen obediently saluting their superior officers and submitting to the most humble tasks. They were immediately reinstated, however, after entertaining the student body and faculty with the Frosh Frolics—Bedlam.

During a social night, Freshmen gathered in the lounge to enjoy a Tacky Party which fostered unity between day-hops and boarders. Highlight of the evening was the introduction of the class song written by Betsey Warwick.

Publication of the roster and their issue of The View were two of the activities which proved how well the freshman became a part of Mount life.

Front: Marilou Heavrin, Peggy Krier, Rosemary Condon, Dixieanna Fairchild, Jody Burkett, Claire M'Closkey, Jeanne Lautier, Gail Nolan. Middle: Sylvia Ozen, Peggy Cosgrave, Betty Anne Boyd, Jill Curtis, Mary Anne O'Connell, Suzie Johnston, Marianne Munch, Joan Muckenthaler. Back: Lenore Gaffney, Jo Anne Kealobanni, Barbara Selna, Kay Drewisch, Betty Atwill, Betty Holbron, Clair Goss, Carol Atchison.

Incoming freshmen Nancy Galt, Betsey Warwick, Betty Holbron, Helene Hopp, Alice Colburn, Bobby Jean Davis wait in line to pick up application blanks before struggling with class conflicts.

After listening to Notre Dame's Father O'Brien, Nancy Wiggins, Barbara Jean Williams, Kathleen Murphy, Margaret Vezzetti, and Gladys Mannupau in the Little Theater foyer comment on his ideas about coeducation.

Relaxing between classes at the coffee bar, (sitting) Claire Jones, Margaret Moser, Sally Snow, Maureen Nally, Mary Yolanda Schulte, Carla Carlucci; (standing) Sandra Miller, Stella Del Duca, Marlene Hoyt, and Dolores Jones drink cokes and coffee and catch up with unfinished assignments.

Learning the Alma Mater during Green Week are Beverly Macchio, Katie Brophy, Lupita Gomez, Dixieanna Fairchild, Mary Jane Hoffman, and Sandra Dilley.

With only ten minutes before the bell rings, (front) Eileen O'Loughlin, Mary Ann DeNunzio, Margaret Batzold, Mary Reimann; (back) Kathleen McGlincy, Maggie Romley, Alice Erlinger, and Marilyn Torre finish their border designs before putting away materials.

Practicing for the High Mass sung on Mother Agnes Marie's feast day are (front) Alicia Wick, Helen Mae Hoelzel, Phyllis Kinney, Jeanne Franchi, Carla Wright, (back) Jeannette Calderon, Mary Ann Ramberg, Lani Fleming, Barbara Cabot, and Carol Lee Berg.

Discussing some class problems at Our Lady's feet are (seated) Lorainne Mouton, Betty Willinger, Mary Joan Storm, Rosemary Brunet, and Genevieve Ortega, while (standing) Pat Rubman and Suzann Broms look for answers.

the Mount

One student group on campus which always seemed to be "in the know" was the Student Council. This was natural because they were responsible for directing the student government, carrying out elections, putting into effect the suggestions of individual students and various campus organizations. This year the Coordinating Council, a committee of the Student Council, was set functioning. It was designed to coordinate activities and arrange dates for various campus clubs. During the summer, some members of the Student Council decorated the Student Body office in yellow paint and chintz. For the first time the Mount entered a float in Loyola's Homecoming Parade, an effective school building symbolizing the youth of tomorrow. Another innovation was a weekly date bulletin. Besides these things, the council carried out many Mount traditions—a student council dinner, coordinated calendars, the Orientation program, the Big-Little Sister program, and many others.

...her life

Morning ...

Mary Jane Hoffman, Claire Jones, and Phyllis Kiney hurry to get into chapel before 7 o'clock Mass begins.

Woodie Herman, Donna Ziebarth, Dawnie Cobb, Lavelle Rotsler, Mary Ann Penty, Carla Wright, and Barbara Schaper exchange ideas about costumes for social night dinner.

Nancy Herbiveaux dusts while Betty Troncy sweeps the rug to get their room in order before leaving for an 8:30 class.

Cynthia Luke and Emily Kuglen, student teachers, show off some of their pupils at Brentwood Elementary School.

St. Joseph's Hall is the best place to go whenever you want to know what is happening on campus. Gretl Dietzel, Pat Pierce, Pat Pinneo, Mary Evelyn Meichelbock, and Jean Walsh admire the "mile long" poster for NIGHT AT THE MOUNT and check times for club meetings.

Between Classes ...

Although day-hops are invited to eat in the boarders' "Blue Room," many prefer to enjoy the sun with lunch in the patio, and to be near that necessity—the coke machine.

Rosadel Robison and Elisa Luna serve Anne Freese an ice cream cone, while Yolanda Schulte, Becky Bohanon, Grace Bohanon, Joyce Mazzairelli, Peggyann Campbell, Doris Ouellet, Betty Hearne, Joan Murphy, Sandra Speed, and Mary English get their lunch in the caf.

Beverly Halpin, Joan Shaw, Margie Gegg, Margaret Ann Czuleger and Peggy Bradish make use of their senior privilege and take the elevator down.

Mail call means letters, packages, and pictures for some—while the others just look hopefully in their boxes.

On their way to class, Dolores Jones, Mary Morris, and Jo Anne Kealobanui dash into the book store to pick up a text book order.

Afternoons ...

Mrs. Addison, assistant librarian, Rosadel Robison, and Mary Cornwall work on the behind-the-scenes tasks that keep the library functioning smoothly and efficiently.

Upper left: It isn't all work at the hospital. Mary Ishida, Vivian Burgess, Maureen Boylan, Ruby Mae Bunyard, and Marie Astier relax with a song during off-duty hours.

Before catching the 3:30 bus for Westwood, Callie Orfanos, Mary Reiman, and Mary Crettol fill out their sign out cards.

Seated: Diane D'Alfonso, Barbara Pearman, Carolyn Frisbie, Peggy Bradish, Liz Krack. Standing: Katherine Scully, Mary Jane Hoffmon, Marilyn Rudy, Anne Frances Russell, and Bella Jacobs plan the Santa Barbara tour at one of the biweekly NSA campus committee meetings.

The Sodality book sale is always a success. Shirley Burke, Dorothy Roberts, and Carol Moore sell books to Joan Murphy and Jackie Kildare who do their Christmas shopping the convenient and practical way.

Jeannette Calderon and Lupito Gomez take clean clothes out of the automatic washer. Marianne Munch and Maureen Nally wait their turn while Sandra Dilley and Mary Ann Ramberg use the wringer.

Lower right: Liz Krack, Mount mathematician, divides five into $1.70 while Bernie Gouveia collects from Carmelita Hanley, Dorothy O'Hara and Kay Knauf to pay the taxi fare from Westwood.

Student teachers have to have an eye for balance. Bernadette Victorino, Claire Jones, Peggy Parkinson, Dawnie Cobb, Deen Ibbetson, Barbara Cabot, and Margaret Moser arrange a bulletin board of illustrations for children's literature.

Sandra Dilly calls home, while Pat Sanders, Mary Ann De Nunzio, and Marilyn Torre look up numbers in the directory. Marie D'Anna, Jeannette Calderon, Mary Ann Ramberg, Julianne Murphy, and Beverly Calhoun patiently wait in line.

Evenings in ...

Bernadette Victormo, Gladys Mannupau, Betty Holbron, Dolores Jones, and Jo Anne Kealobani, in their colorful muumuu's, entertain Jeanette and Belette Gualano, Bernie Gouveia, Jenny Stefanos, and Theresa Giovanelli with a traditional Island hula.

Seated: Portia Spencler, Impy Meyer, Marilyn Rudy, Nancy Herbueaux, Doris Higgins, and standing, Belette Gualano, Pat Olson, Lu Mattson, and Elise Kerckhoff work on plans for the Boarder Dance at a council meeting.

Rosemary Davidson, June Swithen, Loretta Fanning, Barbara Scherrer, Judy Wagner, and Gloria Arias administer to Margaret McGraw, the only patient ever to get such service and attention.

The Mount choral group sings Sister Celestine's musical setting of the HOUND OF HEAVEN.

Evenings Out ...

Seniors smile after a delicious spaghetti dinner at Peggy Scott's home for the first senior night out.

Nancy Galt and escort demonstrate how to do a fast Charleston at the Mardi Gras MASKED BALL.

Tau Alpha Zeta sorority presented their pledges. Seated: Marcia Williams, Mary Anne Ramberg, and Carol Lee Berg. Standing: Jan Calderon, Barbara Cabot, Mary Ellen Reiman, Sandra Dilley, Diane Williams, Marilyn Rudy, Shirley Burke, and Elisa Luna.

Seated: Grace Presto, Susan McDonough, Barbara Woods, Jean Call, and Mary Evelyn Meichelbock, and standing, Joey Rennison, Diane D'Alfonso, and Maureen Fox look vore the program for T. S. Eliot's THE COCKTAIL PARTY.

And More...

After a previous elimination, the court and the Loyola Homecoming Queen were chosen from these contestants. The Mount girls are Barbara Bashe (1), Eileen Micklish (10), Joan Gocke (5), and Nancy Galt (3). Barbara, Eileen, and Joan were three of the four princesses in the court.

Snow makes an unusual background for Hawaiian Islanders Beatrice Leong, Patricia Ching, Dolores Jones, Gladys Maunupau, Jo Anne Kealobanni, Betty Holbron, and Bernadette Victorino.

Lower right: Student teachers Rita Lefevre, Cynthia Luke, Emily Kuglen, Margie Gegg, Carol Moore, Deen Ibbetson, Impy Meyer, Dawnie Cobb, Joan Murphy, and Peggy Scott serve themselves at the dinner for the training teachers from Franklin and Brentwood elementary schools. They not only prepared the dinner but entertained the teachers as well.

Queen Barbara Bashe reigned throughout the evening of the Mardi Gras MASKED BALL. As in the past years, voting was carried on by class contests.

...her times

Standing: Sally Snow. Seated: Jo Anne Kealohanui, Dolores Jones, Lani Fleming, Maureen Nally, Carla Wright, Pat Olson, Betty Holbron, Marylu Mattson, and Rosemary Brunet watch Mary Ellen Breen and Nancy Galt rehearse their Charleston number for the FROSH FROLICS.

September ...

Carrying the last piece of luggage up to their rooms, Margaret Batzold and Rosalie Quintana are ready to begin their college days.

Prosecutor Dawnie Cobb accuses Mary Ellen Breen, before judges Doris Higgins and Margie Gegg, of causing injury to Patti Catalyne, while Deirde Combs nervously waits her trial at the Freshmen Court.

Parnassians Pat Pierce, Jean Walsh, Pat Pinneo, Charlotte Robe, Shirley Burke, Ann Scott, Dorothy Smith, Rosemary Johnson, and Dorothy Roberts browse for ideas through back issues of MADEMOISELLE. Jean Walsh and Shirley Burke are campus representatives of the magazine.

Maureen Fox and Mary Holland admire Mary Ann Gorman's diamond as she passes the traditional chocolates to Helen McEachen, Barbara Dobrott, and Pat Perram, announcing her engagement.

President Margaret Ann Czuleger accepts new members Peggy Krier, Diane Greaney, Mary Ann Ramberg, Betty Anne Boyd, Joan Gocke, Ann Park, Julianne Murphy, Marilyn Torre, Beverly Calboun, and Marianne Munch into the home economics club.

Riding on the Mount's float for Loyola's Homecoming were Deenie Ibbetson and Rosemary Czuleger. They portrayed the "Designers of Tomorrow."

Marian Reaume, Joan Mergens, Barbara Bashe, Elisa Luna, Mary Bernhardt, Peggy Parkinson, Barbara Dobrott, and Jane Lacy were so interested in Father John O'Brien's talk on co-education, they stayed after to ask more questions.

Minne Fiorentino, Lenore Gaffney, Carolyn Frisbie, Dorothy O'Hara, Joan Newton Miner, and their escorts gather around as Eileen Micklish serves punch during the junior dance, SYMPHONY 'N SIL-HOUEETTE.

Dick Jones, Gloria McMillan, and Rudy Anders enact a scene from the Mount's Fall success, THE HEIRESS.

October ...

November ...

Camilla Munton, Dawnie Cobb, Eileen O'Loughlin, Carol Moore, and Nita Cusack wait with resigned expressions while Diane D'Alfonso has her blood pressure taken. Because the Mount had the highest percentage of blood donations among colleges and universities in the nation last year, the Bloodmobile this year came up for more.

Garden decorations made a picturesque background for a group of couples at the Junior dance, SYMPHONY N' SILHOUETTE.

One of the most colorful stag dances of the year was the ILC's CONTINENTAL CRUISE. Advertisements representing every nation decorated the walls and stimulated lively conversation.

Seated: Elisa Lima, Anna Macchio, Jeanette Slattery and Sylvia Parsons. Standing: Peggyann Campbell and Marilyn Rudy have Hallowe'en fun. Can you recognize the others?

December

Candlelight, formals, and a luscious turkey dinner added to the festivity of the annual Boarder Christmas Banquet.

Upper left: This group took Family Night literally and really enjoyed the ham dinner.

and January ...

Jane Brander stops to chat with Anne Frances Russell and Patti Catalyne while Deen Ibbetson, Bobbie Pearman, and their dates relax between dances at the TRI SORORITY BALL.

Kappa Delta Chi presented their pledges Kathleen McGlincy, Maggie Romley, Clare Goss, Rosemary Hefron, Betty Atwill, Jeanne Lautier, Lani Fleming, Mary Ann O'Connell, Claire McCloskey, Jodi Burkett, Betty Ann Boyd, and Nancy Herbaveaux at the Palm Room in the Miramar Hotel.

Upper right: The girls claim he's their best date of the year. And Dad's still a good dancer . . . at least Eileen O'Loughlin, Peggyann Campbell, Maureen Fox, Lorraine Gibbons, and Jeanette Gualano think so.

Princess Joan Gocke, Queen Barbara Bushe, and Princesses Lavelle Rotsler and Emily Kuglen make an attractive court at the annual Mardi Gras MASKED BALL.

Balloons, streamers, and music of Pete Lubisich set a gay mood for the dancers at the Mardi Gras Masked Ball.

February ...

Valentines predominated at NIGHT AT THE MOUNT. One of the most popular booths run by the Home Economics Club served cakes, coffee and pie a la mode.

One of the attractions at NIGHT AT THE MOUNT was Dick Wesson, Warner Brothers star. Mr. Wesson brought the rafters down with his impersonation of Humphrey Bogart.

Margie Gegg, president of Kappa Delta Chi sorority, reads a letter to Joan Shaw, Dawnie Cobb, Betty Hearne, Betty Troncy, and Lea O'Donnell from Sigma Rho fraternity thanking Kappas for the wonderful time they had at their exchange.

Upper right: Mr. Everett watches as Shirley Burke, Josephine Davis, Lillian Pereyra, Ann Freese, Maureen Fox, Marcia Williams, Mary Anne Gorman, and Anne Frances Russell learn the inside dope on plates, cuts, and copy at a Press Club meeting.

Rita Blecksmith, Gloria Will, Margaret Tripp, Barbara Hartman, Georga Grupe, and Camilla Munton learn what makes them "tick" as part of a Kappa Theta Mu meeting.

This year, the tea for high school seniors and their parents was held in February. Following the fashion show, tea was served in the boarders' "Blue Room".

Lower right: Mrs. Chadwick helped Schevaun Robinson, Celeste Gourdeau, Pat Sanders, Margaret Wick, and pianist Mary Ann De Nunzio, members of the Mount String Ensemble, practice for the senior tea.

March ...

Marianna Bauer, Mr. Bauer, Elaine Moore, James Carroll, Emily Kuglen, Jackie Kildare, and Marie Fontana serve themselves at the senior buffet dinner for Father Corbett.

Lower left: Jenny Stefanos, Lea O'Donnell, Joan Murphy, Father Corbett, and Elaine Moore are caught by a flash bulb as they enjoy the buffet dinner at Marianna's.

Dr. Peyton, noted physician, autographs a copy of his book, QUEST FOR DIGNITY, for Sylvia Ozen and Kay Knauf after his lecture climaxing Interracial Week activities.

INTER NOS contributors Lea O'Donnell, Jean Walsh, Maripat Donohue, Lillian Pereyra, and Peggy Bradish polish their final drafts before turning in copy for publication.

Bella Jacobs adds authentic Spanish color for Callie Orfanos, Ana Marie Cota, Mary Ellen Reimann, Alicia Wick, Gretl Dietzel, Dorothy O'Hara, Sandra Dilley, Mary Ann Ramberg, Dierdre Foxen, Barbara Cabot, Betty Ann Boyd, Mary Jane Hoffman, Julietta Cuevas, and Thelma Garcia at the International Language Club foreign dinner.

Eusebians Beverly Czar, Impy Meyer, Joan Murphy, Joey Rennison, Gloria Will, Carol Moore, Betty Dunningan, Dorothy Smith, and Josephine Davis, just before they left for Capistrano to witness the famous arrival of the swallows on St. Joseph's Day.

Joan Shaw, Lea O'Donnell, Barbara Dobrott, Miliza Foelsch, Frances Charland, and Toni Tortorici arrange a display of Negro art in the library for Interracial Week, sponsored by SWES.

April ...

Seated: Stella Del Duca, Margaret Tripp, Joanne Vosika, Josephine Davis, and Marie Fontana count stamps donated to the Sodality stamp drive. Standing: Elaine Moore, Gretl Dietzel, Frances Charland, and Sally Snow take down the poster. The stamps are sent to the missions.

Rosemary Czuleger, Margaret Ann Czuleger, Anne Frances Russell, and Barbara Dobrott pack their luggage and rackets in the car for the trip to Ojai for the tennis tournament.

Nancy Newell, Alice Colburn, Nancy Wiggins, Doris Ouellet, Jenny Stefanos, Doris Higgins, Monica Gosnell, Betty Cain, Callie Orfanos, Marilyn Munton, Kathy Higgins, Bebette Gualano, and Jude Longshore plan the U.N. mock assembly sponsored by SWES.

Seated: Luella Lum, Portia Spencier, Bernie Gouveia, and Carla Carlucci evaluate a magazine illustration while, standing, Peggy Holtsnider, Sally Snow, and Betty Dunning use other reference material in the Curriculum Laboratory.

Staff members Josephine Davis, Shirley Burke, Claire Jones, Lillian Pereyra, and Jean Walsb get in a festive mood as Marcia Williams lights the eight candles for THE VIEW'S birthday party.

Grace Bohanon, Nita Cusack, Eileen Hainley, Marilyn Munton, and Doris Ouellet line up to give their dollars to Becky Bohanon for the campus Red Cross Drive.

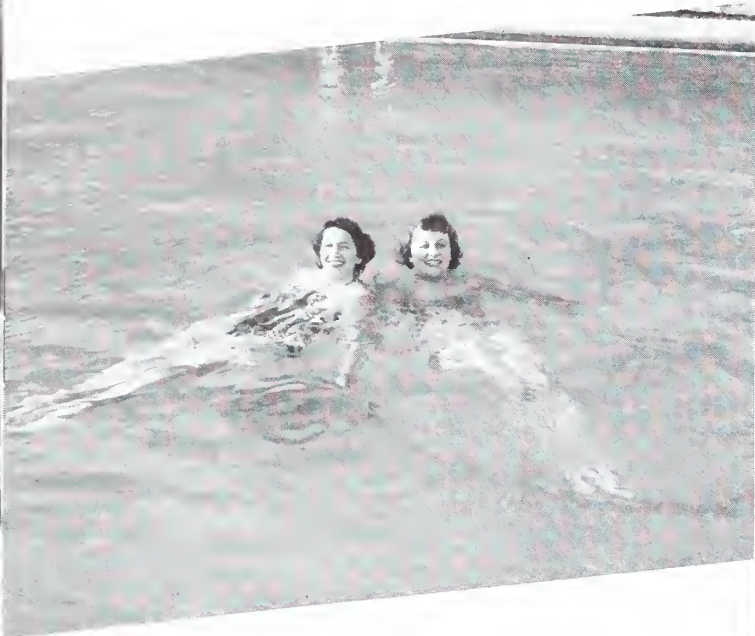

With the help of six pupils from Transfiguration Grammar School, Mother Margaret Clare demonstrated the methods of Confraternity teaching at a Sodality meeting.

Gloria Arias, Eileen Kline, Mary Jane Saul, Marilyn Munton, Martha Moltana, Cho Robe, Diane D'Alfonso, Doris Ouellet, Betty Dunnigan, and Mary Ann Greer relax beside the pool at Lavelle Rostler's home in Oxnard.

May ...

Elise Kerckhoff and Rosadel Robison relax between rehearsals for the 1952 Mount Swim Show—with a French motif.

Before her senior recital, Deenie Ibbetson runs through some of her numbers with Mr. Garroway.

Elaine Moore relaxes before her joint senior recital with Deen Ibbetson.

Gloria Will and Gloria Day watch Sodality Prefect Carol Moore crown Our Lady, the high point of the Mary's Day ceremonies.

Tschaikowsky's "Piano Concerto" climaxed Jenny Stefanos' piano recital, April 27.

Margie Gegg, Rita Blecksmith, Lea O'Donnell, Barbara Hartman, and Peggy Bradish were elected to Kappa Gamma Pi, national Catholic women's honor society. They graduated with distinction and were active in extra-curricular activities.

Getting ready is half the fun of the Junior-Senior Prom. Pegi Parkinson fastens Nancy Herbueaux's pearls while Margie Gegg puts on her lipstick.

Preparing for the home economics fashion tea, Alicia Wick, Patti Catalyne, Jeannette Gualano, Joyce Markel, Jackie Kildare, Elaine Moore, Dawnie Cobb, Peggy Holtsnider, Rosemary Czuleger, Grace Bobanon, Julietta Cuevas, Helen McEachen, and Lavelle Rotsler complete their semester projects.

and More...

Front Row: Doris Higgins, Eileen Micklish, Nancy Galt, Carla Carlucci, Marianna Bauer, Toni Tortorici. Back Row: Jane Stebly, Shirley Burke, Barbara Bashe, Joella Allen, Gloria Day, and Gloria Will listen as Prefect Carol Moore reads a letter from St. Mary's University in Texas.

The nurses' capping ceremony took place in Mary Chapel. Second year students received an additional stripe on their caps.

Members of Delta Epsilon Sigma include Ella Dell, Barbara Pearman, Eileen Micklish, Marianna Bauer, and Luella Lum. Selection is determined by outstanding achievement.

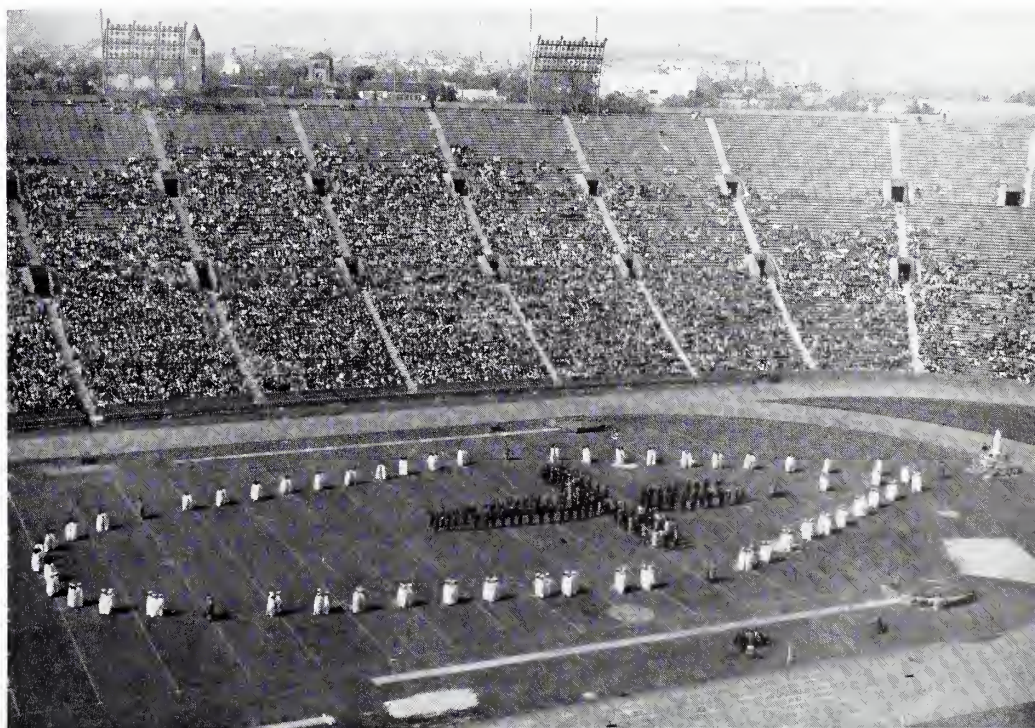

Father Cremins leads the Offertory hymn at the monthly Student Body Mass.

Marianna Bauer, Co-chairman of Mary's Hour, puts on her gloves and takes a last minute glance at her speech before driving to the Coliseum on May 4.

Mary's Hour was held in the Coliseum on Sunday, May 4. Catholic high school students who formed the living rosary put on their caps at the completion of each Hail Mary by the congregation of 90,000.

Staff ...

Joan Murphy, editor, gives the final check to proofs.

Joan Shaw, copy editor, Jenny Stafanos, advertising manager, and Margaret Ann Czuleger, photography editor, check pictures before they are sent to the engraver.

Lea O'Donnell, assistant editor, explains layout to Peggy Scott, business manager.

Luella Lum, circulation manager, Dawnie Cobb, contributor, Cynthia Luke, circulation manager, Marianna Bauer, assistant copy editor, Eileen Micklish, art editor, and Jackie Kildare, assistant photography editor, make final decisions on proofs before ordering pictures.
